Office of Inspector General Audit Report: Air Carriers' Outsourcing of Aircraft Maintenance: Project ID: AV-2008-090

On September 30, 2008, we issued our audit of air carriers' outsourcing of aircraft maintenance. We conducted this audit at the request of the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure. Air carriers are increasingly outsourcing maintenance to repair stations to reduce operating costs. When an air carrier uses a repair station that is certificated by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to repair its aircraft or parts, the repair station's organization becomes an extension of the air carrier's maintenance organization. Our audit objectives were to (1) identify the type and quantity of maintenance performed by external repair stations and (2) determine whether FAA is effectively monitoring air carriers' oversight of external repair stations' work and verifying that safety requirements are met. We found that while FAA has begun moving its safety oversight toward a risk-based system, it still relies too heavily on air carriers' oversight procedures, which are not always sufficient.
